

Scientists To Quiz Shepard

Exploit Belittled By Soviets

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A heartened America cheered space pioneer Alan B. Shepard Jr. today, and stood by to give him a hero's welcome—while the Soviets pooh-poohed his grueling trip 115 miles into space.

But Shepard, whose code name is "Freedom 7", is far away from all this.

He faces two days of seclusion on Grand Bahama Island and a scientific grilling to wring from him the most minute details of his 15-minute adventure.

The White House and President Kennedy will wait until Monday—as will the nation—to give Shepard his welcome.

New York City and Los Angeles offered ticker tape parades whenever Shepard was ready.

There was little doubt that Shepard's feat—and the perfect shot of his Redstone rocket—were a major step for the U. S. man in space program, aimed at putting a man in orbit before the year is out.

But the official Soviet news agency Tass said the Project Mercury shot could not be compared with the 108-minute flight around the world by Soviet space pioneer Yuri Gagarin.

But at least on existing evidence, Shepard's attempts to control his space capsule—even though it was backed up by automatic systems that insured against error—seemed somewhat more than Gagarin's.

If the Soviet Union was reluctant to credit the feat, Shepard's hometown of Derry, N. H., was not.

The whole town exploded into a full-scale holiday when news arrived that Shepard and his space capsule had splashed down safe and well into the Atlantic some 302 miles off the Florida coast.

Residents hailed Shepard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Sr., and their daughter, Pauline.

The governor was thinking of proclaiming a state-wide celebration in the space pilot's honor—and some Derry residents seemed ready to change the name of the town to "Spacetown, U. S. A."

While the parents were tensely watching their son's exploit on television at Derry, Shepard's wife, Louise, and their two children watched on T.V., too, at their Virginia Beach, Va., home.

"This is just a baby step, I guess, to what we will see," Mrs. Shepard said. To the question of whether she would like to see her husband orbited around the world in a rocket, she hesitated, then said: "Well, it is a hard question, but, yes, since he wants it so very badly."

Mrs. Shepard, 34, seems to know the same side of her rock-steady husband as do the psychologists who helped pick him for the job.

Members of congress have suggested that Shepard be given the Congressional Medal of Honor.

President Kennedy told a news conference he would ask Congress for more money to promote space efforts. Earlier he had said "All America rejoices" in Shepard's feat.

Salutes to Shepard's feat echoed through the capitals of Britain, West Germany, France, Canada, Spain, South Africa, Nationalist China and all through Latin America.

After his visit to the White House, he is expected back at this Florida base, for extended tours in the astronaut's flight trainer—a last attempt to relieve the strange ordeal in space.

Scientists need to know everything they can of the brutal pressures of speeding up and slowing down in rocket travel. And about the unearthly experience of weightlessness.

Shepard experienced some five minutes of continuous weightlessness and performed all of his as-

JFK Says U.S. Must Not Relax In Space Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says the United States still has far to go and must not relax on pride over its first human flight into space.

Outspokenly proud himself, Kennedy arranged a ceremonious White House welcome on Monday for astronaut Alan B. Shepard, Jr.

Yet, while rejoicing with the country at Shepard's safe journey into the skies over the Atlantic, Kennedy reminded his news conference Friday that "We have a long way to go in the field of space. We are behind. But we are working hard and we are going to increase our efforts."

He said he would seek more funds from Congress, where a House committee already has recommended $126.6 million more than the administration originally sought for space projects.

Kennedy, at times grave and at times jolly, discussed accomplishments, hopes and embarrassments at his 11th news conference since taking office. Facing a crowd of 39 reporters for more than a half-hour, he dealt with these questions:

Southeast Asia—The United States, he said, is considering whether to send troops to South Viet Nam. A decision on exactly what help will be furnished this neighbor of Laos awaits consultation with the government of Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will take up the problem with Vietnamese officials on his mission to the Far East starting Tuesday. Kennedy confirmed re-

About 60 persons attended the meeting presided over by Charles Chamberlain of Leetonia RD 2, president.

U.S. Halts Training of Anti-Castro Cubans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy apparently has put an end to U. S. invasion training of anti-Castro Cubans and has reservations on the idea of a total U. S. economic embargo against Cuba.

Instead, he is reaching out for joint action with the other American republics to try to block Communist inroads in the hemisphere.

The President was reported considering a trip to an inter-American meeting to underscore U. S. interest in acting jointly with Latin countries.

The new U. S. ambassador to Peru, James Loeb, said after a White House visit Friday that Kennedy was interested in attending a special Inter-American Economic and Social Council meeting that the United States has proposed.

It is slated for July 15, probably at Montevideo, Uruguay, to consider how to move ahead under Kennedy's "alliance for progress" economic aid programs.

Asked whether the United States would continue to train and arm Cubans as it did for the ill-fated April 17 invasion effort against Cuba, Kennedy replied: "We have no plans to train Cuban exiles as a Cuban force in this country, or in any other country, at this time."

As for a trade embargo against the Castro regime, Kennedy acknowledged that this has been considered by his top strategy group, the National Security Council.

However, he noted all U. S. shipments to Cuba are already cut off except for food and medicine. He is known to feel that a tighter embargo alone would not topple the Castro government.

Monday for the 37-year-old Navy officer. There was even some talk of the nation's highest honor—the Medal of Honor.

Everyone in the capital there was pride and joy in Shepard's flight in the spacecraft Freedom 7. He was rocketed 115 miles into space and splashed into the Atlantic 302 miles below Cape Canaveral, Fla. The success eased the frustration of a long series of space disappointments.

Shepard will remain secluded with doctors on Grand Bahama Island until Monday, when he flies to Washington. Then a grateful nation begins to shower honors on its first spaceman.

Everyone from President Kennedy on down was trying to get into the act, all across the nation.

New York wanted Shepard for a ticker tape parade and his home state of New Hampshire planned a statewide celebration.

But Washington gets the first opportunity, and it doesn't plan to miss its chance.

Shepard is scheduled to arrive at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington at 10:30 a.m. Monday. There he will be met by his parents, and his wife, Louise, who waited out the tense hours before Monday's space flight at their home in Virginia Beach, Va.

Also accompanying Shepard on the flight to the capital will be the six other astronauts, some of whom will be chosen for future space flights.

The group will fly by helicopter from Andrews to the White House where President Kennedy will congratulate Shepard in a ceremony on the South Lawn. The festivities will be televised and broadcast nationally.

After the public ceremony, Kennedy will extend a private greeting to Shepard in the White House.

Shepard then goes to the State Department auditorium where he will hold his first full dress news conference since making his historic flight.

And while the President and the capital prepared a welcome for the spaceman, Congress also had plans.

Both Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Rep. Steven B. Derouin, R-N.Y., said they would ask Congress to give Shepard the Medal of Honor.

Normally awarded for valor in battle, it has been given only twice for exploits other than in combat.

In Derby, N.H. — Shepard's home town — they got off to an early start. Featuring the astronaut's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Shepard Sr., the town had the biggest parade in its history.

Rusk To Stress NATO Unity, Arms Buildup

Will Tell Allies Red Actions May Force Drastic Retaliation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk flew to Europe today to tell Allied foreign ministers that the strongly aggressive operations of the Communist bloc in such places as Laos and Cuba make greater unity and military strength imperative.

Rusk left at 8:05 a.m., heading for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's foreign ministers' council in Oslo, Norway, starting Monday.

President Kennedy told a news conference Friday that he hopes NATO "will be strengthened by the meeting in Oslo and that we will make a more determined effort."

Closer Collaboration

"I believe that as other situations become more difficult there is a common recognition of the need for closer collaboration," Kennedy said. "That is true of NATO."

Rusk is expected to tell the Allies that as pressures from the Communist bloc increase in critical areas of cold war conflict the United States may face the need for drastic measures to meet the Red threat and that it wants the support and understanding of its friends for such actions.

May Use U.S. Troops

Within NATO itself, U. S. officials said, Rusk will urge an increase in the conventional military forces which could be used to meet the initial thrust of an attack in a NATO area and perhaps delay thereby the hour for defensive use of nuclear weapons. Specifically, Rusk is expected to argue that the European allies must rely less, in the first instance, on U. S. and British nuclear retaliatory power and more on conventional arms.

At his news conference, Kennedy said the administration is

Fire Leaves Family Of Nine Homeless

It is believed that defective wiring was the cause of the fire which leveled the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith of Leetonia-Franklin Square Road Thursday afternoon. The family had lived there four months.

Mrs. Smith and her year-old daughter, Vicki Lynn, were visiting at the home of another daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Warner of Washingtonville when the fire occurred. Mr. Smith, unemployed for the past year, was in West Virginia, where he started on a new job Monday.

Six other children, Donald, 5; Thomas, 10; twins, Kenneth and Kathryn, 12; Shirley, 14; and Kathy, 16, were in school. The Smiths also have a son, who is serving in the Navy.

Mrs. Smith and the children are staying at the Warner home temporarily.

Mrs. Marian Lodge of Leetonia is assisting Mrs. L. A. Way Jr., home service chairman for North Columbiana County Red Cross Chapter, in securing wearing apparel and other needed items for the family, whose personal belongings were totally destroyed in the fire. The family had no fire insurance.

Friends and neighbors who might be used by the Smiths may take them to Mrs. Lodge or may call or bring them to the local Red Cross office. Mrs. Hobart Butcher, executive director, said.

SPELLING CHAMP — Karen Sherwood (right), 12-year-old Dover Junior High 7th grader, is shown as she was crowned the 1961 Regional Spelling Bee Champion at Canton Friday night by Jean Nero of The Canton Repository staff, director of the regional bee. Karen, who outspelled 37 other "local champions" from four counties, will compete in the National Spelling Bee finals in Washington, D.C., beginning May 29.

Regional Bee Won By Dover Girl, 12

Two Dover Junior High School girls, classmates since the first grade, staged a one-two finish in the 15th annual Regional Spelling Bee finals in Canton Timken High School auditorium Friday night.

Winner of the Regional Bee who now is eligible for the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C., May 29 is Karen Sherwood, 12, a 7th grader at Dover.

Runner-up among the 38 spellers from schools in Carroll, Columbiana, Stark, and Tuscarawas Counties, was Pam Lieser, 13, also a 7th grader at Dover Junior High.

The three-hour long contest went 17 rounds and 333 words before the winner was determined.

THE TWO FINALISTS battled it out to the 15th round after the third place winner, Ann Ramsey, 12, a 7th grader from North Canton Junior High, missed the word "martinet" in the 13th round.

In the 15th round, Pam misspelled "abeyance," however the Pronouncer James Roberts of Canton's WHBC radio station mistakenly began to properly spell the word and disqualified it.

The judges then ruled to go on to the next word, "beauteous," which Karen, in the excitement, promptly misspelled. Pam then

Nikita Suggests U.S., Cuba Begin Confabs

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev said today the United States should open negotiations with Cuba to settle its differences on a basis of "live and let live."

His speech, reported by Moscow Radio, was delivered in Erevan at a meeting of the Armenian Parliament held to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the establishment of Soviet rule in the republic.

Khrushchev said the international situation had been aggravated recently.

"The peoples of the whole world are greatly alarmed by the intrigues of the imperialist aggressors against the freedom-loving people of Cuba."

He drew stormy applause as he condemned what he described as intervention in Cuba "which had not threatened anyone."

He noted that the attack had been repulsed and commented "U. S. statesmen should draw the proper conclusions."

properly spelled "beauteous" but had trouble with "coherence. This allowed Karen to become the champion by correctly spelling "coherence" and the next word "debility," in succession.

AMONG THE COLUMBIANA County entrants, Linda Crooks, 11, a 6th grader at East Liverpool Pleasant Heights School, went the farthest as she took fourth place missing the word "adjacency" in the 12th round.

Second among the local county spellers was Diane Patton, 14, an 8th grader at New Waterford Elementary School, who made it to the ninth round before missing "deferment."

Three Columbiana County entrants made it to the fifth round before they were eliminated. Gary Barringer, 12, a 6th grader at East Liverpool's Lincoln School, the county champion, was eliminated with "animus."

Kitty Purrington, 12, Salem Junior High student and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Purrington of 158 W. 4th St., dropped out on "pharmacy" and Rosemary Fithian, 12, of Salem St. Paul's, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fithian of 482 E. 7th St., tripped on "nauseous."

4 Die As Family Reunion Ends In Nightmare

10-Second Twister Rips 2 Small Towns; Arkansas Also Hit

POTEAU, Okla. (AP) — A tornado that didn't last 10 seconds killed 13 persons and injured 59 late Friday as it tore through two tiny towns in eastern Oklahoma.

A family reunion turned into a tangle of horror when 13 died or were hurt as the twister smashed Reichert. Then it tore away half of Howe, a community of 500.

Nine died in Howe, four at Reichert.

It may have ripped a wing off a light plane. A young boy said he saw this happen and said he saw smoke rising from the forests on Winding Stair Mountain after it crashed.

The death toll may go higher. So could the number of injured. Both lists fluctuated Friday night, with victims taken to a half-dozen nearby cities.

"It didn't last 10 seconds," said Charles Lewallen.

But in those 10 seconds the big, happy reunion turned into a nightmare. Four members of the family were killed, nine injured, including two children.

The storm was the worst of many that blanketed most of Oklahoma for the second straight day. It came on the first anniversary of a tornado that killed 13 and injured more than 100 at Wilburton, just 40 miles to the west.

Twisters struck in neighboring Arkansas, a few miles away. One person was killed near Dover and eight injured near Lake Hamilton. There was little warning as the twister smashed out of torrential rain.

Lewallen said his brother-in-law, Wally Lloyd, raced up to the home in a pickup truck. He and his father-in-law, Jack Brown ran out to the fence and "there it was about 50 yards in front

Six Feared Drowned as Boat Swamps

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Six people were lost and presumed drowned today when a boat swamped while evacuating them from a flooded area on the Mohican River.

They were among nine persons in the 16-foot outboard motor boat. Missing after the boat swamped were Sam Perry, operator of a Wooster junk yard (age not available); his wife, Grace; and three children of Mrs. Perry by a previous marriage — Pete Allemen, 21, Larry Allemen, 20, and Suzy Allemen, 16. The body of Frank Hudgins, 4, was recovered.

The homes were among several in the area isolated when water backed up behind flood control locks on the river.

The locks were closed because of recent heavy rains. It started raining Friday night about midnight, and the families were evacuating shortly after dawn when the motor stalled and the boat swamped approaching a road on higher ground near the Ashland-Wayne County line.

Leroy Hudgins was standing on high ground, and he helped rescue his wife, a child, Randy, 2, and Daryl Swinehart, 22.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

The Romance of Imagination

I'm taking off soon on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land. Of course I'm thrilled by the prospect of once again visiting the familiar scenes where our Lord walked and taught in His earthly ministry.

Then, too, the storied lands of the Near East are to me so full of charm and fascination, and the people so delightful, that I am lured back once again. We shall visit Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Israel, Greece — and follow the Bible trail all the way.

My enthusiasm for the trip is whetted even more by a wonderful book, "This Is The Holy Land," which is presented as "A Pilgrimage in Words and Pictures" — Conducted by Fulton J. Sheen and Described by H. V. Morton.

The eminent Bishop, whom I admire as one of our great spiritual leaders and esteem as a personal friend, is pictured visiting all the important places of sacred interest — and Yusuf Karsh, the photographer, is most skillful indeed. Short of going yourself to the Bible lands, I can think of no better substitute than to read a book like this.

ACTUALLY IT IS possible to travel the world without ever buying a plane ticket or making a steamship reservation. All you need is romantic imagination — that is your passport.

I once knew a charming elderly lady who never budged from the little village where she had spent her lifetime. Even so, she was one of the most widely traveled individuals I have ever known. The way she traveled was to send away for all travel folders, circulars and time tables available and then pore over these and imagine being in all those interesting spots.

She was an avid reader of travel pages of newspapers and magazines and she built up quite a library of guides and books on faraway romantic places.

In fact, she really had more knowledge about places of unusual interest and appeal in the world than most seasoned travelers. Through her wide reading she extended her little home and village to encompass the whole fascinating world — and she never allowed the fact that she could not really visit other countries to disappoint her.

"My travel method is much cheaper and lots less trouble," she declared. "And I've had so much fun taking trips in my imagination."

DR. HARRY G. THOMAS, father of Lowell Thomas, was a friend of mine. He had a vigorous and inquiring mind and was a student all his life. He actually took a course at New York University when he was past 80.

He was a doctor of medicine for many years in the Colorado mountains. There in Cripple Creek, when Lowell was a young boy, Doctor Thomas would get him up in the middle of the night and show him the heavenly bodies in the star-studded skies over the tumbling Rocky Mountains, and they would talk about the universe.

The Doctor had the same romantic and dramatic flair that later made famous his son and his grandson, Lowell Junior. His eager mind roamed over the literature of the world and he was especially versed in the Bible and its history. Each evening he would tell Lowell the great stories of the Bible with a zest and color that made the Biblical characters living personalities in the mind's eye of the boy.

LATER, WHEN LOWELL went to the Holy Land and had his historic adventures with Lawrence of Arabia and Lord Allenby, he said he felt he had known the Holy Land places all his life, so familiar had his father made the Bible to him. It was truly the homeland of his spirit, because he had lived it in his mind many times before ever being there.

So don't rule out the powerful uses of romantic imagination to add charm and interest to your life.

Many dances have been sponsored in the gymnasium, where the closing highlight, the association dance, will be held Friday from 7 to 10 p.m. Parents and teachers will chaperone this first evening dance for Junior High students. LUTHERANS BELIEVE...

The Church is people.

No, it's not a building—

In fact, church buildings were unknown until the third century.

The word church comes from a Greek word, ecclesia, meaning "called out ones." The ancient Greeks used the word ecclesia to apply to those people "called out" of the masses to serve on their legislative bodies.

The early Christians picked up the word and used it to apply to those people "called out" of the masses to believe in Jesus Christ. Consequently, the Church is people. It's people who believe in Jesus Christ as their Lord and Saviour.

The Church exists without buildings, without an institution, without any organization.

Buildings are built by the Church for comfort. An institution and organization have been developed by the Church for the sake of good order among these people—the Church.

Since the Church is people, people are being sought by Lutherans, not prestige, not wealth, not power—only people just like you.

STORM of LIFE

"If only I could get out from under, get away from it all, find some island of peace..."

Like everybody else, we want to escape our problems and pressures. We are seeking calm away from the storm of life.

But we can't escape from life. We can't run away from the storm but we can find calm in the storm. When a hurricane sweeps across the countryside, its circling winds lashing out in destruction, there is always in the center, an area of quiet. In the eye of the storm there is calm.

Faith is not an escape, a running away into religion. It is finding the presence and adequacy of God to face life triumphantly. It is finding an inner center of peace while the winds blow outside.

The Church points the way to peace. It helps us to find the inner experience of faith.

"I have found my island... an island of peace in my heart. I have found calm... the calm of God in the storm of life..."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Talking About Campaign Funds

Whenever anyone brings up the question of campaign funds, the same question arises:

Are they talking about all campaign funds or just the other party's campaign funds?

When Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asks the Ohio General Assembly for stricter laws covering campaign spending, is he talking about a law to make everybody hew to the same line? Or is he, perhaps without intent, talking about a law that would give the Republican party fits while the Democratic party calmly relied on its labor union allies to raise and spend all the money necessary, plus throwing legions of organized campaign workers into the fray, plus indoctrinating their own people in a way that would be beyond the means of any political party that didn't own its own string of oil wells.

THIS HAS BECOME a ticklish question in the United States.

The duality of the Democratic party—the curious coalition of old-line Democrats and new-line unionists like Walter Reuther—never has been recognized in law and only rarely in public discussion.

Any curb on campaign spending which does not take into account the cheek-by-jowl operation of the Democratic party and the "labor party" is not worth taking seriously.

And there's a further fact that must be taken into account.

Whatever is done by one side in politics will be done in one form or another by the other side. It's like warfare, where every weapon begets a counterweapon. Corruption begets corruption; deceit breeds deceit.

The only way to stop the skulduggery is to pin responsibility on each candidate for money spent in his behalf, thereby making him his own enforcement agent.

If this were done and a spending limit were placed on every job, with forfeiture of the surplus as the penalty, campaign spending would become so pure so fast the corruptionists wouldn't know where to turn to do their next dirty work.

WHETHER GOV. DISALLE is teeing off on all campaign spending, or only on the spending of Republicans, is indeterminate. Experts would have to analyze his proposals first, to be sure.

But proposals that do not take into account the effect of labor unions in Democratic politics aren't worth the glossy paper they are inscribed on.

For the Republican party to match the manpower and organized effort of the unions would cost so much money that no one would attempt to collect that much.

10 Miles From Vang Khy

On a spot north of Vang Khy, also known as Bang Vang Ky, a truce emissary from the government of Laos was hoping to meet a truce emissary from the rebels of Laos earlier this week.

That is, the meeting would take place there if the rebels relented from their original choice of Ban Namone as a meeting place for truce negotiations. Ban Namone is 10 miles from Vang Khy.

Actually, it was even more complicated than that, because the rebels had insisted at one time on holding the negotiations at Xiengkhouang. This was a little too much for the administration in Luang Prabang, where the administration of Prince Souvanna Phouma is tenuously entrenched, because Xiengkhouang is the rebel stronghold.

Aside from this, no one is going to take a truce in Laos seriously until there has been a year of uninterrupted peace. And no one is going to believe a truce in Laos represents anything but the same thing a truce represents in Korea—an inexpensive way for the dominant power closest to the scene to dominate the country by political erosion. It is hard to remember that Korea is still under a truce with the Communist Conspiracy and that this truce represents an admission by the United Nations and the United States that it was unable to dislodge the Communists.

Laos is a matter of grave concern. The United States may have to go there to fight, it is said. It may have to do this to save face in Asia. Washington is deeply concerned, and whenever Washington is deeply concerned the rest of us are expected to be concerned.

This applies to the good people of Punxsutawney, Kump, Appleton Junction, Hucomer, Palatka and Lokern, any one of which would be as good a place to hold a truce negotiation as Bang Vang Ky, provided the Laotians were trying to follow the struggle for control here in the United States.

Policy Worth Emphasizing

Lopsided support for a bill in the Ohio House of Representatives to curb sales promotion by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control reflects agreement on a statewide policy for the management of intoxicating beverages.

The policy is worth emphasizing. It came from the abuse of hard liquor that led to passage of the 18th amendment. It came, too, from the unhappy failure of the 18th amendment.

When the "noble experiment" in prohibition ended, Ohio decided to take a new tack that had been recommended by a Rockefeller Foundation report. The tack was to make hard liquor available in state stores under a state monopoly but not to push its sale. Beer and wine, on the other hand, were to be distributed widely by private enterprise.

The idealistic hope was that the public would slake its thirst for alcohol in the future with the less potent beverages if they were easy to get and if hard liquor was kept under tight control.

The idealistic hope is a long time behind now, but one important part of it still remains. It is still commonly agreed that Ohio should not be in the business of promoting liquor sales, even though it has a monopoly on the sale of liquor.

The bill that has passed the House in Columbus and gone over to the Senate expresses this policy. Although it hardly is a matter for legislation, being first of all a matter of administrative policy, it has the good effect of reminding legislators that more is at stake in the Ohio liquor monopoly than boosting sales.

It's the Ohio Liquor Control Act, not the Ohio Liquor Promotion Act.

Responsible Citizens

This week's primary election bore evidence again that Salem citizens are interested in municipal activities, despite whatever outward indications of apathy might have been feared earlier.

The total 1,924 vote was good, considering the issues, or lack of the same. Salem folks, as a general rule are not too vocal and sometime we wish more of them would express themselves, but it is apparent that when election time comes around, whether it be at the primaries or at a general election, our citizens recognize the privilege and responsibility that is theirs to cast a ballot.

Once Over

Moscow seems to have chosen for last May Day theme song, "I'm To Be Queen of the MAYHEM." Like says there must be no "witch hunt" for responsibility in Cuban floproo. It was no invasion by people on brooms.

National Law Day was celebrated for first time in U.S., but there seemed to be more holdups, hijackings, assaults and riots than average. Maybe crooks weren't told. Crime in American is so general that anybody venturing forth to celebrate Law Day is apt to be bumped off en route. (Incidentally it seemed to us that plenty of the country's lawyers spent Law Day in the customary practice of keeping most lawless folks in circulation.)

Another Harvard man, William L. Batt, Jr., has been named to top government post, this time as head of the Depressed Area Administration. It looks bad for Yale or Princeton if they get into a bad hole. Up to now, Harvard men have thought of a depressed area as a place where "Boola Boola" could be clearly heard.

AMERICAN INDIAN tribes announce a pow-wow to seek a better break, and who can blame 'em? Tribal leaders will convene on University of Chicago campus and pull quite a switch in emphasizing that, while the Indian wants his happiness back, he has no yen for all the ways of civilization.

Looking at it today, he thinks the Red Man's way of life at its toughest was comparatively restful and free from hazards. The Red Man lived in the open, knew no slums, slept without tranquilizers, never had a housing problem, never heard an air-wave commercial, had no playground shortage and never spent weekends waiting for traffic congestion to open up.

His housing problem could always be settled by a pole, tepee and a couple of blankets. His "dreamhouse" never had a wet cellar. He needed no picture window to enjoy scenery. To him a split-level home was a tepee half on a precipice and half over the edge.

"Never mind too much civilization but just cut me in an economic aid, education and fair play," he says as the tribes gather for the Red Man's Chicago summit meeting, switching from "How" to "How Come?" and from simple "Ugh" to "I want a better world, and I don't mean a Wild West show, a TV fight with the cavalry or wider streets on a reservation." Here's hoping he gets it.

White Water Canoeing is latest sport. Trout fisherman are squawking about canoes sweeping down stream past their lines but streams are so crowded with anglers these days that canoe folks can claim they are friends of the trout.

Pulitzer play prize to "All the Way Home" by Tad Mosel should bolster courage of producers who close plays fast. "All the Way Home" seemed all the way out after caustic reviews. It was listed for closing after three performances. But it caught on. What looked like a flop may be one of long-run big money-makers.

... And, In This Corner ... ?

Formula For Failure

By RAYMOND MOLEY

There is a saying that military people "do fight the last war." But if the military mind is frequently cartilaginous, that of the politician is normally osseous. No more dogmatic, superstitious or unflexible breed can be found among us. This is emphasized again as the Republican party prepares to select its next national chairman.

One of the two men under serious consideration for the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee is Rep. William E. Miller of New York. At a $50-a-plate dinner he announced that to put the position of chairman on a full-time, salaried basis would be "utterly ridiculous."

He has said that "a paid chairman would be nothing more than a glorified member of the staff at a fancy salary." He feels that "the chairman, working for a salary, would have in his mind all the time the thought that he would have to try to please everybody or be threatened with the loss of his job."

"But, whether I am in or out of Congress, I shall not be the national chairman if I have to serve on a salaried basis and take orders from a large group of 'employers' instead of being able to fulfill the function of national chairman as the party's political leader," Rep. Miller declares.

THIS POSITION is, under modern conditions, a perfect formula for defeat. At a time when some Republicans have realized that the running of even a county political organization relies for its success upon a full-time, salaried chairman, Rep. Miller's opinion applies to the office of chairman of a great national party.

It shows that a powerful element in the Republican party is so frozen in obsolete tradition that under normal political conditions future presidential and congressional elections will be lost.

This view goes far back to the Grand Old Party's distant past, to the chairmanships of John W. Aldrich and Mark Hanna, when only men of wealth or lawyers, who could make money out of political practice, could afford to serve without salary.

It has been a tradition that has put on the party the stamp of "The Party of the Rich." It is a tradition that should be abandoned. The stamp should be expunged.

Of course there have been able men serving in Congress who have served as chairman. But the job of leader of a national party organization should receive a man's full time and attention. And a senator or representative, to serve his constituents well, has more than enough labor to occupy his full time and attention without taking on some outside, part-time job.

TO PERSIST in this tradition in view of the enormous organizational tasks a national chairman should do is dangerous folly. Not only does the tradition close the door on extremely capable men who could not accept the position on such terms. It robs the position of its just due, that of professionalism.

A real professional, well paid, with assured tenure would be dictated to by no "employers." Professional politicians in state and county organizations would respect and listen to such a man. And he could command the respect of that coy and cynical object of every politician's attention, the press.

The principle of professionalism, of full-time, salaried chairmanships with established tenure has already been proved. The best state organizations have it.

Large and important counties have long since abandoned compromises concerning the office of their organization chairmen. Too many mediocrities or men who were able but couldn't put in sufficient time had been the difference between failure and victory in too many elections.

Private enterprise was a fierce competitor for managerial talent. So these organizations pay good men to do a hard job. Today our political parties should pay well for their men at the top.

Expense-Account Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Firms Can Get Around New Tax Restriction

At last there's a solution to the expense-account problem so far as its major aspects are concerned.

The government will get more tax money — hundreds of millions that the U.S. Treasury is not getting now.

The companies will be able to send their men to conventions and trade association meetings.

The salesmen will be able to take their wives along and continue to entertain their business friends and wives.

Also, the hotels, restaurants, theaters and auto rental companies will all be able to do about as much business as before, and unemployment, therefore, will not be increased as has been feared ever since the crackdown on expense accounts was announced by the Treasury Department more than a year ago.

The method is simple and it's lawful. Each company simply pays a special or temporary increase in salary or bonus to its representatives, to cover extra expenses as well as his federal and state income taxes on this added compensation.

To put it another way, when a company sends out a traveling salesman to attend a convention and he takes his wife along, the total cost of the special trip might, for example, be $600.

The salesman is out-of-pocket not only $600 but an additional $200 that he would be expected to pay in income taxes. So the company gives him a bonus of $800 to cover all extra expenses. It becomes part of his salary and, like any other bonus for services rendered by an employee, the $800 payment is deductible as a salary item by the company itself.

A company can pay any salary it wishes to a salesman and an additional bonus for services rendered. Going to conventions is one way to make friends and help get orders. Many a sales representative works long hours at conventions.

If he were in the classification of employees comparable to that of a trade union, he would be getting time-and-a-half for overtime beyond eight hours a day and beyond a five-day week. Often conventions require travel on weekends but the salesman isn't compensated for this.

SO THE COMPANIES really are getting a break today since they don't have to pay their traveling salesmen time-and-a-half overtime. Hence, many companies probably will be willing to give the salesman a travel bonus when he has to go to a convention.

tion and remain there for several days and wants to take his wife along.

Now all this will be feasible for the employer when the employee has an income of around $15,000 to $20,000 because the amount of the taxes involved for a special trip is relatively small. It will not be practical where high-salaried executives are involved. The taxes to be paid in those cases would be too high and the amount needed to cover an expense account of $5,000 might have to be doubled in order to pay the executive's extra income taxes. But in most of these cases the executive himself probably is well able to pay special expenses out of his regular income.

After all, his own expenses in going to and from a convention would still be an expense-account item and subject to deduction by him or by the company.

The bulk of the expense-account spending in America, however, is done by the men who get salaries of less than $20,000 a year. It is they who are being hurt by the new expense-account rulings. But, with the new plan, they would cover all their own actual expenses and those incurred for any members of their family they took along on trips.

Because the company itself would be scrutinizing the expenses involved in order to determine the exact amount to pay to cover his taxes, it is more than likely that the employee would be more careful than ever before to avoid unnecessary expenses or what has often been called "padding."

THE FORMULA will overcome many other difficulties — as, for instance, where a new employee is hired and must incur moving expenses from one city to another. Extra pay would be the answer here, too.

Since the Treasury might collect a vast sum that it is not getting now, it ought to encourage the plan. For the law and the regulations are clear — an employee may be given extra compensation for merit.

The test of whether it was a good thing to send him to a trade association meeting or a convention is whether he has made acquaintances or built friendships that can result in increasing sales. That is something that an employer has the right to determine for himself.

Judging by the reports published a few days ago by the Securities and Exchange Commission giving the salaries of executives of corporations, there seems to be no limit to what a company can pay an employee it considers important to its operations. The higher the way, the more the federal government takes in taxes and has available to pay the cost of the welfare state.

Biggest Tourist Year

By A. J. GLASS

Cameras slung, pockets bulging with passports, travel guides—and money—an army of American tourists is once again beginning to descend upon Europe.

In all, an estimated 800,000 United States citizens will spend about $1.2 billion on European travel in 1961. In both cases, this is a gain of 10 per cent over last year's record high.

This year, as last, Americans will be spending more in their total travels abroad than on any other foreign commodity—more, for example, than they will spend on foreign automobiles, textiles and iron combined.

One travel official here, happily looking forward to the 50,000 additional American visitors to Europe this year, sized up the situation this way:

"It took about 10 years to overcome the legacy of the war. Now the graph is steadily going up, at a rate of 7 to 10 per cent a year. The various international crisis that have a way of popping up every summer do not seem to affect travel plans."

THIS YEAR, American travel to Europe got off to a slow start, largely the result of recessionary influence on the economy. But the poor trend seems to have been broken by March when American Express Co.'s Travelers Checks sales rose 6 per cent over last year.

American Express—which sells 70 per cent of the travelers checks that are carried by two out of three Americans arriving in Europe—has queried its 37 overseas offices, as well as trans-Atlantic air and steamship lines and European hotels and car-hire agencies, to find out what the travel picture will be in 1961. This is what it found:

Of the European cities polled, 26 expect more American visitors this year than last; six see no change, and five anticipate fewer U.S. callers.

Two-thirds of the cities polled reported car-hire reservations by Americans up anywhere from 5 to 60 per cent. The American Automobile Association estimates more than 275,000 Americans will drive through part of Europe this year, against 250,000 in 1960.

Mother, Daughter Program Held At Methodist Church

The annual mother-daughter fellowship, sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service, was held Wednesday night in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church, with 260 in attendance.

Mrs. Homer Taylor, WSCS president, welcomed the group, and Mrs. Delmer Smith served as announcer for the program on the theme, "Reflecting Shadows."

Depicting solemn reflections, an effectively lighted screen, moving shadows and a description, written by Mrs. William Woolf and narrated by Mrs. Donald Doyle, emphasized the fact that life flows from the Creator to the created.

A shadow of a mother, lifting her eyes towards God's light, while a daughter knelt beside her, symbolized this flow of love from the One to the others.

Accenting this presentation were group singing and selections by Mrs. William Snowball and her daughter, Becky. Pat Sweitzer was piano accompanist for the songs, "God Who Touches Earth With Beauty," "Spirit of the Living God" and "Joyful, Joyful We Adore Thee."

Becky Doyle, Marylou Woolf, and Becky Sutter were shadows. Mrs. Burton Sutter and Mrs. Jack Doyle were in charge of stage effects and Mrs. Floyd Craig, sound effects.

Reflections of talents of those created featured: Piano selections, "Tarrantella," Patty Doyle; duet, "Romance," Kay Hansen and Susan Keck; and "Arabesque," Elaine Underwood.

Instrumental quartet, "Der Fruchtschut," Becky Snowball, Kathy Weber, Priscilla Ivan, Mary Lou Early;

Vocal trio, "A Prayer" from Hanzel and Gretel, Ann Smith, Becky Taylor, Vicky DeJare; accompanied by Lois Whinnery.

Ballerina waltz, Connie Vocature; and rhythm dance, Mary Beth Beall.

Mrs. Taylor presented gifts to: Youngest daughter, Paula Stoudt; oldest daughter, Mrs. Alfred Strat-

Boardman, Springfield Win Mahoning Track Titles

Bud Frazier Leads Assault On Seven County Records

Greenford Dominates Hurdles In A; West Branch Scores 1 Point

Seven records were smashed, six of them in the Class AA division, as Boardman and Springfield Local successfully defended their titles in the Mahoning County Track and Field Meet Friday at Boardman Stadium.

Boardman won its seventh consecutive Class AA crown by racking up 8½ points. Poland had 6½, Austintown Fitch 5½, Canfield 9½ and West Branch 1.

In Class A, Springfield Local led the way with 61 points. Then came Lowellville with 44, Greenford 42, Mahoning Local 30½, North Lima 26, Jackson-Milton 13 and Western Reserve 6½.

BOARDMAN'S Bud Frazier led the assault on the old records. The Spartan speedster set new marks in both the low hurdles and the 220. His 19.8 in the lows erased the old standard of 20.3. Frazier's 22.5 in the 220 knocked two-tenths of a second off the old mark.

Other record-breaking performances were turned in by Poland Bill McKennie in the mile, 4:40; Boardman's 880-yard relay team, 1:34.4; Fitch's sophomore Steve Medwick in the high jump, 5-9½; and Boardman's Bob Hill in the 400, 51.7.

The Class A record which went by the boards yesterday was in the 440 where Springfield Local's Roger Bretz was clocked in 51.3. The old 440 standard was 51.7.

FRAZIER WON the Class AA most valuable player trophy while Robert Pratt of Lowellville got a similar honor in Class A. Pratt accounted for 23 of Lowellville's 44 points. He won the 100, 200 and tied for first in the high jump with Kenny Wellendorf of Greenford at 5-6½.

North Lima Gains Baseball Finals

The powerful North Lima High School baseball team battled its way into the finals of the District Tournament by winning a double header yesterday at Warren.

The Zips trounced Lordstown, 15-1 in the first game yesterday and then came back to trim Austintown Fitch, 3-2. Ward Manchester received credit for both victories. He got relief on the mound in both frays from Don Work. Steve Harmon caught the doubleheader.

North Lima will shoot for the right to advance to Regional play at Canton when it faces either Windham or Suffield in the District finals at Warren on Monday. Windham and Suffield play tomorrow.

North Lima is the Mahoning County champion. The Zips are undefeated in six games this season.

Rain Threat Hangs Over Derby Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Fifteen of the country's top 3-year-old colts were posed for a shot at racing gold and glory in the Kentucky Derby today.

There was a threat of showers and scattered thunderstorms here but it didn't chase any of the hopefuls from the race. Actually, some trainers seemed to welcome it as their charges tried for the first place jackpot of $120,500 in the first leg of racing's triple crown. The chart hinted the colts would do all right in the mud.

Nor was the weather expected to seriously cut down the crowd, an almost legendary 100,000. Churchill Downs never gives any other attendance figure and no body disputes it seriously.

Millions planned to see the race on television (CBS, 4:15-4:45 p.m. EST).

Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back who won the Florida Derby and Flamingo Stakes was the 5-2 favorite although his post position was next to the outside.

Crozier, the speed demon from the stable of Alabama contractor Fred Hooper, was second rated at 3-1 and the entry of Fluterby and Four-and-Twenty from the Alberta ranches in Canada stood at 9-2. Jacob Sher's Sherluck rated fourth choice at 6-1 but the crowd didn't accord the others much chance.

All the colts carried 126 pounds in the 1¼ mile test.

Canfield To Make 3rd Try Saturday To Start Races

Canfield Speedway will make its third attempt Saturday night to get the 1961 stock car racing season under way.

The late models and racing's newest drivers—the amateurs—will be on hand to share an eight-race program. There will be two feature events.

The amateurs are showing plenty of interest and fans are in for plenty of thrills as these newcomers get in action. Several veterans are expected to make a comeback in the newer division, too.

Among them will be Bill Buehler of Austintown and Paul Kerr of Youngstown.

All amateur events will be claiming races and any car can be claimed for $300. This will force drivers to stick to older cars. One of the few requirements for the cars is that they have safety features; roll bars, safety helmets and a fire wall.

The late model division is expected to get off winging as all of the popular Canfield stars will be on hand.

These include Wimpy May, Harry Kepler, Nook and Gary Walters, Bill Forney, Jim Bickert, Ed Mitchell, Nick Bevilacqua, Don Sawyer, Dick Lantz and many others.

Time trials begin at 7 and the first race will get rolling at 8:30 p.m.

Skeet Shoot Billed By Rod & Gun Club

The Sportsman Rod & Gun Club of Canton will hold its second registered skeet shoot of the season Sunday, May 14 at the Club's four fully automatic fields and club house on Rt. 173, west of Alliance.

The 50-target, 410 gauge event will start at 11 a.m. (DST), followed by a 100-target 12 gauge event.

Reloads will be permitted. Shells, food and refreshments will be available at the club house. There also will be guns on hand for anyone who wishes to shoot but does not have a skeet gun.

Anyone desiring a copy of the program or other information concerning the shoot may contact Marie Kelly, R.D. 1, Leetonia, phone ED 2-4042.

Salem Favored To Retain County Track Title Friday

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

The 58th Annual Columbiana County Track and Field Meet, the oldest county meet in Ohio, will be held next Friday at Salem's Reilly Stadium.

Ten of the 11 schools in the county, five in Class AA and five in Class A, are expected to take part in this year's meet. Teams East Liverpool and East Palestine in Class AA and Columbiana, Fairfield-Waterford and Leetonia in Class A.

Wellsville and Beaver Local are the other two Class AA schools expected to participate. Lisbon and United are expected to enter in Class A. Salineville, the only other high school in the county, probably won't compete.

SALEM HAS ENTERED the most boys, 28, followed by East Palestine, 27; Columbiana and East Liverpool, 21 each, and Fairfield-Waterford and Leetonia, 18 each.

Salem is the defending Class AA champion while Leetonia will try to repeat as Class A Kingpin. Class AA and Class A schools will compete together. A permanent trophy will be presented to the winning team. The Class team scoring the most points will also get a trophy.

There will be gold, silver and bronze medals for the individual events; gold medals for members of the winning relay teams; a trophy for the winning school in each relay event; and a trophy for the high point man.

East Liverpool's Bobby Mackall was last year's top scorer.

MISS DIANE DAWSON, a Salem High School junior, will serve as custodian of awards. The meet will be scored on a 6-4-3-2-1 basis.

F. E. Cope, Salem High Athletic Director, will direct the meet. Dave Williams will be the referee and John Russ the starter. The meet will get under way at 2 p.m. with prelims and finals in the shot put. The discus, high jump and broad jump will also be completed in the afternoon.

The evening program will start at 7 p.m. with prelims and finals in the pole vault. Finals in the track events are slated to get under way at 7:30. The meet should be over shortly after 9:30.

DEFENDING CHAMPION Salem, which has won five out of the last eight county meets, will be favored to repeat again this year in Class AA. The Quakers are unbeaten in dual and triangular meet competition this season but they don't appear to be quite so strong as the 1960 championship aggregation which rolled up 72 2-3 points, compared to 45 1-3 for runner up East Palestine.

This year's meet figures to be much closer with East Palestine once again given the best chance of applying pressure on the Quakers. However, the Bulldogs don't appear to be quite up to last year's strength either.

The big difference this year appears to be in the stronger entries expected from some of the smaller schools. Columbiana, Wellsville, Leetonia, Beaver Local and Fairfield-Waterford all figure to be tougher this year. They figure to win some events which will cut into the point totals of the larger schools such as Salem, East Palestine and East Liverpool.

THE QUAKERS and Bulldogs have dominated the Columbiana County meets with the exception

Flu Bug Hits Temple

Nats Hand Antonelli Third Defeat, 5-2

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians still haven't won their battle with the flu and Johnny Temple may be the latest to go on the shelf for a few days.

The hot-hitting second baseman had a temperature of 102 degrees after Friday night's 5-2 loss to the Washington Senators. "I ache in every bone," said Temple as he huddled in a blanket on the bench before the contest.

Temple Gets Daily Hit

Temple did his daily hit, however, to push his consecutive game string up to 19 games. The hit was a third inning double. But Temple was retired three other times and his averaged slipped some more—to .412. It still holds the American League hit parade.

The Indians made only five hits off rookie right-hander Ed Ho-Baugh, who notched his first major league triumph. Johnny Antonelli, still searching for his initial American League win, suffered his third loss.

"We may have to rest him," said Manager Jimmie Dykes in talking about Temple. If Temple isn't improved by game time, Mike de La Hoz will be handling second base for the Tribe today. "The trouble with this virus," said Dykes, "is that it makes you feel lousy for several days after the fever is gone."

Jim Piersall and Tito Francona returned to action after missing blies, Willie Kirkland, remained on the two - game Chicago series earlier in the week. But the other outfielder suffering from flu trouble the sidelines. He said he felt like a wet dishrag.

Kirkland Ready To Play

Kirkland, however, is set to go back to right field for today's contest. That will put Walter Bond back on the bench. Bond has nothing for his last 15 at bats and the fans are giving him a booing chorus.

He hit a long high drive to left center in the seventh inning with a runner on, but the wind held up the ball long enough for Willie Tasby to haul it in. "I know I'm coming out of this slump," said ball real good up there and I'm beginning to connect."

"When I'm up there at the plate, I'm concentrating on hitting and I don't even hear them," Bond said. Dykes said he couldn't understand the fans' attitude toward Bond, a spring sensation for two straight years.

"The big fellow's giving it all he's got out there," said Dykes. "You can't ask for more." A single and a home run by 31-year-old Harry Bright, a Pittsburgh castoff, gave the Senators a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Two more runs crossed in the third on a walk, two singles and an error by Bubba Phillips.

Barry Latman pitched five solid innings in relief, giving up three hits and one run. Bobby Locke pitched a hitless ninth inning. Woodie Held, now up to a nine-game hitting streak, had two of the Cleveland hits.

Bell To Hurl Today

Cleveland scored once in the fourth on a walk, a wild pitch and Held's single. The other run crossed in the eighth when Don Dillard walked and Piersall and Held followed with singles. But Vic Power ended the rally by popping up.

Boyer's Homer in 9th Nets Yanks 5-4 Win

Clete Boyer's two-run homer in the ninth inning gave New York a 5-4 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Friday night and kept the Yankees in a tie with Detroit for the American League lead. The Tigers kept the pace by rapping the Chicago White Sox 8-4.

Minnesota defeated Boston 5-1 and Washington beat Cleveland 5-2. Baltimore-kansas City was rained out.

Boyer drove in three runs for the Yankees, who were held to one hit and an unearned run for six innings by Ron Moeller. A single by Elston Howard, Boyer's double and a sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Deron Johnson gave New York two runs in the seventh for a 3-3 tie, but the Angels went ahead again in the same inning on singles by Gene Leek and ex-Yank Fritz Brickell.

That's the way it stood until the ninth, when losing reliever Tex Clevenger (2-1) walked Roger Maris and then gave up the homer, Danny McDevitt (1-1) won it in relief.

While the Yankees were held to five hits—and Mickey Mantle's hitting streak was halted at 16 games—the Angels managed six, one a two-run homer by Ken Aspromonte off starter Ralph Terry. It was the Angels' 15th at Wrigley Field, which has yielded a total of 26 in nine games. The Tigers breezed at Chicago, handing the White Sox a fourth

Young Columbiana Track Team Nipped by Chaney

Columbiana's promising young high school track team put up a stubborn fight before bowing to Youngstown Chaney, 57-52, in a dual meet yesterday afternoon at Columbiana.

The Clippers won six events and the Cowboys came out on top in seven. There was no pole vault competition.

Freshman Jim Ward, son of Head Coach Waldo Ward, turned in an outstanding performance in the broad jump. The ninth grader got off a leap of 20-1½ to beat out teammate Dave Garrod who took second.

Salem Jr. High Teams Roll Over Minerva

The Salem 7th and 8th grade track squads continued their winning ways yesterday by whipping invading Minerva Junior High teams.

The Quaker heavyweights (110 pounds and over) defeated the Minerva heavyweights, 41-32, and the local lightweights (under 110 pounds) trounced the Lion lightweights, 55-18.

The Minerva heavyweights were trailing only 34-30 going into the final event, the high jump. Dick Ehrhart of Salem came through with a first in this event with a jump of 4-8. Rich Edling of Salem and Lawther of Minerva tied for second at 4-6. Lawther is the son of Minerva High School's head basketball coach, Don Lawther.

EHRHART ALSO accounted for a first in the 120-yard low hurdles. His time was 16.3. Frank Fitch took a third in this event.

The outstanding heavyweight performer was Salem's Ronnie Hofmann, who scored in four events. He won the 100-yard dash in 11.9, placed third in the 220, was a member of the winning 880-yard relay team, and placed third in the broad jump.

The Salem heavyweights scored a sweep in the 440-yard dash with Harold Schramm, Tom Boughton and Norm Whinnery finishing in that order. The winning time was 60.3.

Hofmann, Edling, Boughton and Jerry Boyd were the members of the 880 relay team which won in 1:51.5. Coming in second was another Salem team composed of Dave Bricker, Mike Swetey, Tom Snyder and Whinnery. Jeff McArthur won the shot for Salem with a heave of 39-8½.

Hebert Leads Golf Tourney

6 Others Bunched Near Top of Pack

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Jay Hebert led the way into the third round of the $52,000 Tournament of Champions today with six formidable pro golfers bunched within five strokes from the top in the 72-hole desert classic.

The 38-year-old Lafayette, La., pro dominated the field of 26 select fellow pros with a 36-hole score of 133 off the par 72 Desert Inn Country Club course.

Just two strokes back, with rounds of 68-67, was one of golf's more renowned elder statesmen, Samuel Jackson Snead, who has in two days of play shed the jinx of the course.

Deadlocked at 136 were Tommy Bolt, Stan Leonard and Doug Ford. The 138 bracket, to round out the roll of nearest contenders, had two former U. S. Open champions, Billy Casper Jr., and Julius Boros.

And with two vital rounds to go, Art Wall Jr., and Bill Collins, tied at 139, and Masters champion Gary Player, at 140, could hardly be ignored.

The big disappointment was the current U. S. Open king, Arnold Palmer. He led off with a highly respectable 69 the first day.

But Friday Palmer fell apart on the greens—took four putts to get down on one—and he ended up with a 40-36-76 for the par 36-36-72 layout and a total score of 145.

Hebert's putting, on the other hand, was superb. He revealed he has experimented with 100 or more putters in the past but in recent weeks has settled on one particular mallet.

"I think I'll keep this one—as long as those putts drop in," said Hebert.

Dodgers Deal Bucs 10-0 Whitewash Job

A three-run pinch homer by Wally Post brought Cincinnati from behind, and a sacrifice fly by Chico Cardenas scored the deciding run as the fourth-place Reds defeated Milwaukee 6-5 in 12 innings Friday night for their sixth straight success.

San Francisco gained a two-game National League lead by beating Philadelphia 4-2 while the Los Angeles Dodgers trounced second-place Pittsburgh 10-0. The Chicago-St. Louis game was rained out.

The Reds, after handing the Braves a pair of unearned runs, trailed 4-1 going into the ninth against starter Lew Burdette, who gave up 12 hits. Don Blasingame doubled home the first score in the four-run ninth before Post unloaded against reliever Seth Morehead. The Braves tied it 5-5 in their ninth on Al Spangler's double and a throwing error by winning reliever Jim Brosnan (1-1).

Gene Freese tripled and scored the winning run off Ron Piche (1-1).

The Giants made it in a breeze behind the seven-hit pitching of Juan Marichal (2-1).

Questions—Answers

Q—How did the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia happen to crack the first time?

A—When the Province bell was delivered to Philadelphia in 1752, it was hung on trusses in the State House yard to try out its sound before being raised to the tower. During these experiments a stroke of the clapper cracked it.

Twelve-year-olds used to pass as six to travel at half fare. Now everyone is over 16 so he can drive a car.

Many people are finding that the best place to spend their food dollar is at a progressive independent store. They not only get more for their money, but the profits stay right in their community to bring them better things in the future. Stop - Think - Doesn't this make sense?

of us. We jumped into a ditch. Just as we laid down, I looked up and saw the house go. I jumped up and started hunting my children."

The men found their family strewn about the yard, covered in debris.

Killed here were Jack Brown's father, Charles; Mrs. Wiley Lloyd, daughter of Charles; Preston Lloyd, Mrs. Lloyd's infant son and Alvin Brown, Jack Brown's baby son.

"I heard my daughter, Connie, screaming for me. I uncovered her and carried her to the highway where some man loaded her in a truck," Lewallen said. "I found my sister-in-law underneath another pile of logs."

Then he found baby Preston Lloyd's body.

He looked around and heard crying... from his father-in-law, and his own two boys. He found his baby daughter, Stephanie, wrapped in a mattress, her arm broken, and "All this time, it was raining something awful."

At Howe, about the only building not wrecked was the office of Dr. S. C. Dean.

Walter Lewis, who came into town soon after the tornado hit, said the dead and injured were taken there. And "Doc Dean, who is about 90, is still working now." This was after midnight.

Cuba and Latin America—Kennedy said there are no plans to train a new force of Cuban exiles for another attempt to overthrow dictator Fidel Castro. The question of imposing a trade embargo on Cuba, however, is being carefully considered.

The major physical stress of the flight was apparently during the encountering of the forces that crushed Shepard back into his seat during reentry—forces 11 times as powerful as gravity.

During this period of stress, Shepard's pulse rate rose to 120 per minute. Then it returned to 105 as the G-force lessened.
